

I Strongly support net neutrality. Equal access to information is important to American citizens. Eliminating net neutrality would only benefit the internet providers and giving them too much control over information that the citizen can see.